BEST PRACTICE -2

Title: Comprehensive Academic Enrichment Programme

Objective

- To strengthen and revive current teaching-learning approaches through ongoing innovation, with a primary focus on actively involving clinical and non-clinical departments for thorough dissemination of knowledge based on evidence.
- To encourage the sharing of multidisciplinary concepts.
- To educate the students on the molecular and genetic aspects of oral disorders and to keep them updated with the latest developments and emerging advancements in clinical dentistry.

The Context

In one of its meetings, the IQAC of our institution agreed to introduce the Comprehensive Academic Enrichment Programme (CAEP) concept to the college. It was determined to build a quality assurance system and use performance-based curricula for student's theory and clinical practice development. When compared to other students whose institutes simply follow the curriculum recommended by the Dental Council of India, CAEP will help out our students to develop their clinical expertise and make them more skillful.

The Practice

The Idea behind CAEP is to promote integrated learning through regular updates to existing curricula and the incorporation of emerging aspects of educational learning strategies, like Medical Education Technology (MET) in the form of smart classrooms.

Every academic year, a minimum of 5% of new study materials are added to ensure curriculum enrichment. English language classes and personality development sessions are held concurrently on a regular basis to support students who struggle with interpersonal and communication skills.

Language Classes

To encourage integration among various specialties, inter-departmental meetings and clinical grand rounds for all students chaired by the Principal with all Heads of departments and faculties are duly practiced.

Interdepartmental Meetings

Students from different departments can learn about cutting-edge treatment modalities such as Oral Implantology, Lasers, Microscopic Endodontics, and using NemoCeph software, resulting in a collaborative educational experience.

Microscopic Endodontics

A novel idea called "Early Induction of Undergraduate Students" places first- and second-year BDS students on a rotating basis in dentistry clinics. The main goal of this programme is to familiarize new students with the field of clinical dentistry by allowing them to closely observe the daily activities of patient management.

Interns are thoroughly helped to prepare for NEET examination for admission to the MDS course by using a topic-by-topic method to complete the theory portion, followed by an MCQ mock examination on the pattern of the MDS entrance test, at no additional cost.

Evidence of Success

- The practice has been going on for a long time and has shown a significant improvement in clinical skills and academic records of students while providing comprehensive oral health treatment.
- During their formal education, students gain better patient care, enhanced diagnostic skills, increased confidence, and greater control over their treatment plans.
- The university rank holders and extramural award recipients are strong indicators of the successful CAEP Practice.

Problems Encountered and Resources Required

The institute has experienced issues with curriculum enrichment only in areas where critical decisions pertaining to revision and the addition of new courses are required. This is due to the very fact that the college lack autonomy, as it is bound by the laws and regulations of the Madhya Pradesh Medical Science University, Jabalpur, and the Dental Council of India, New Delhi.

Note

From today's perspective, the Mansarovar Dental College is particularly widespread for excellence in academics, noteworthy patient care, and highly competitive environments to fulfill the needs of tomorrow's dentists. CAEP practice is seen as critical for providing students with a high-quality education.
